Crynodeb | Synopsis

Mae L yn ei fflat ac mae'n ymddangos ei bod yn paratoi ar gyfer parti. Mae cwpl o alwadau ffôn yn tynnu ei sylw cyn iddi derbyn galwad gan yr un person roedd hi eisiau siarad ag ef - ei chyn-bartner. Mae'n dweud wrtho am ei phenwythnos, yn siopa ac yn cael swper gyda ffrind, ond mae'n dod yn amlwg ei bod yn dweud celwydd. Mae'r cwpl yn trafod eu perthynas yn y gorffennol, ac mae L yn beio ei hun am eu problemau. Wrth iddi golli signal mae L yn cynddeiriogi. Mae'r alwad yn cael ei thorri'n fyr, felly mae L yn galw ei linell dir ac yn darganfod nad yw gartref. Pan mae'n ei galw hi'n ôl, mae L yn datgelu, yn hytrach na mynd allan y noson flaenorol, ei bod wedi cymryd dwsin o dabledi cysgu. Mae L yn clywed sŵn yng nghefn dir yr alwad ac yn dechrau amau. Wrth iddi geisio egluro sut mae hi'n teimlo mae'n dod yn amlwg nad yw'n poeni mwyach. Gan ddweud wrtho ei bod yn ei garu drosodd a throsodd, mae'n penderfynu cymryd camau mwy eithafol.

L is in her apartment and appears to be getting ready for a party. She is distracted by a couple of phone calls before finally receiving a call from the one person she wanted to talk to - her ex. She tells him about her weekend, shopping and having dinner with a friend, but it soon becomes clear that she's lying. The couple discuss their past relationship, and L blames herself for their problems. As the call drops in and out of signal, she becomes frantic. The call cuts off, so L calls his landline and discovers that he is not at home. When he calls her back, she reveals that instead of going out the previous night she took twelve sleeping pills. L hears noise in the background of the call and becomes suspicious. As she tries to explain how she is feeling it becomes clear that he no longer cares. Telling him she loves him over and over, she decides to take more extreme measures.

Ganwyd Francis Poulenc ar 7 Ionawr 1899 i deulu cyfoethog ym Mharis oedd yn weithgynhyrchwyr fferyllol. Roedd ei fam, Jenny Royer, yn bianydd amatur wnaeth annog Poulenc i chwarae Mozart, Schubert a Chopin. Aeth ei brawd hithau â Poulenc i'r Opéra-Comique, yn ogystal â pherfformiadau o Petrushka a The Rite of Spring gan Stravinsky. Yn 16 oed, cychwynnodd Poulenc wersi piano ffurfiol gyda Ricardo Viñes a gyflwynodd ef i Jean Cocteau, Marcelle Meyer a Satie. Bu i Poulenc ddal sylw Stravinsky gyda Rapsodie Nègre, cyfansoddyd yn 1917. Gyda chymorth Stravinsky, cafodd ei gasgliad cyntaf o gyfansoddiadau eu cynnwys yng nghatalog Chester, cyhoeddwr yn Llundain, flwyddyn yn ddiweddarach, gan gynnwys Toréador ar gerddi gan Cocteau. Yn 1920, penderfynodd Henri Collet, adolygydd, roi Poulenc mewn grŵp gyda phum cyfansodwr Ffrengig ifanc arall, a'u galw'n Les Six. O dan arweinyddiaeth esthetig di-argraffiadol Cocteau, ysgrifennodd y grŵp gerddoriaeth amharchus ac alawon jas coeth.

Yn seiliedig ar ddrama 1930 Cocteau gyda'r un enw, cyfansoddyd La voix humaine gan Poulenc i arddangos talent y soprano Ffrengig Denise Duval. Yn wreiddiol cafodd Duval gydnabyddiaeth fel 'cyd-gyfansodwr'. Bu iddi berfformio rôl Elle ym mherfformiad cyntaf yr opera ym Mharis, a'r perfformiad cyntaf yn America yn Neuadd Carnegie yn 1960. Mae naws niwrotig yr opera'n deillio o brofiadau personol Poulenc o iselder ac obsesiwn. Ysgrifennwyd hi ar adeg pan oedd wedi ei orfodi i fod oddi wrth ei gariad ar y pryd, Lucien, a disgrifiodd y

Francis Poulenc was born on 7 January 1899 to a wealthy Parisian family of pharmaceutical manufacturers. His mother, Jenny Royer, was an amateur pianist who encouraged Poulenc to play Mozart, Schubert and Chopin. Her brother also took Poulenc to the Opéra-Comique, as well as to experience Stravinsky's Petrushka and The Rite of Spring. At 16, Poulenc began formal piano lessons with Ricardo Viñes who introduced him to Jean Cocteau, Marcelle Meyer and Satie. Poulenc caught Stravinsky's attention with his Rapsodie Nègre, written in 1917. With Stravinsky's help, his first group of compositions were included in the catalogue of the London publisher, Chester, the following year, including Toréador on poems by Cocteau. In 1920, the critic Henri Collet grouped Poulenc with five other young French composers, calling them Les Six. Under the anti-impressionist aesthetic leadership of Cocteau, they wrote irreverent music and cheeky jazz-fuelled tunes.

Based on Cocteau's 1930 play of the same name, Poulenc's La voix humaine, was composed as a showcase for French soprano Denise Duval. Poulenc's muse was originally credited as 'co-composer'. She performed the role of Elle at the opera's premiere in Paris and its US premiere at Carnegie Hall in 1960. The opera's neurotic atmosphere is drawn from Poulenc's personal experiences with depression and obsession. Written at a time of enforced separation from his then lover, Lucien, the composer described La voix humaine as 'a sort of musical confession' - 'the protagonist is more or less myself'.

cyfansodwr La voix humaine fel 'math o ddatgeliad cerddorol' - 'fi yw'r prif gymeriad, mwy neu lai'.

Bu farw Poulenc wedi trawiad ar y galon ym Mharis ar 30 Ionawr 1963. Ef oedd un o'r cyfansoddwyr hoyw agored cyntaf, oedd wedi dod i delerau â'i rywioldeb yng nghyd-destun ei gredoau crefyddol. Roedd ei fywyd personol bron yr un mor adnabyddus â'i gerddoriaeth, ac mae opera olaf Poulenc, Dialogues des Carmélites, chafodd ei perfformio am y tro cyntaf yn La Scala yn 1957, yn cael ei hystyried fel un o operâu gorau'r 20fed ganrif.

Francis Poulenc 1922

Poulenc died of heart failure in Paris on 30 January 1963. He was one of the first openly gay composers, who had come to terms with his sexuality in the context of his religious faith. Almost as famous for his personal life as his music, Poulenc's final opera Dialogues des Carmélites premiered at La Scala in 1957 and is considered one of the finest operas of the 20th century.

Jean Cocteau gan | by Amadeo Modigliani 1916

Wyddech chi? | Did you know?

- Ganwyd Francis Poulenc (1899 -1963) i deulu cyfoethog ym Mharis. Roedd yn aelwyd gerddorol, a dechreuodd Poulenc gael gwersi piano yn bump oed.
- Yn 1907, ac yntau'n wyt h oed, mynhyrchedd Poulenc gyngerdd ac yno y clywodd gerddoriaeth Debussy am y tro cyntaf. Cafodd ei gyfareddu gan ei gwreiddioldeb. Cafodd gerddoriaeth Debussy a Stravinsky argraff ddfon ar Poulenc yn fachgen a chawsant ddylanwad ar ei gyfansoddiadau ei hun.
- Yn 18 oed, collodd Poulenc ei fam a'i dad ac fe gymerodd ei athro ef dan ei adain, sef Ricardo Viñes, y pianydd llwyddiannus y disgrifiodd Poulenc ef fel ei 'fentor ysbrydol'.
- Drwy ei athro piano, Viñes, y cyflwynwyd Poulenc i gyfansoddwyr megis Erik Satie. Dan anogaeth Satie, daeth Poulenc yn aelod o'r grŵp o gyfansoddwyr ifanc o'r enw Le Six.
- Roedd yr opera un act La voix humaine (1959) yn seiliedig ar y ddrama 1925 gan Jean Cocteau, cyfaill Poulenc am flynyddoedd maith. Byddai Poulenc wastad yn dweud ei bod wedi cymryd 40 mlynedd iddo ennill digon o brofiad bywyd i wneud y gwaith yn berffaith.
- Roedd Jean Cocteau (1889 -1963), yr oedd yr opera yn seiliedig ar ei ddrama, yn fardd, arlunydd gweledol, ysgrifennydd a gwneuthurwr ffilmiau o Ffrainc. Ef oedd ffigwr blaenllaw Paris bohemaid a'r avant-garde. Gweithiodd gyda Proust, Nijinsky, Picasso, Modigliani, Diaghilev, Satie ac wrth gwrs, Poulenc.
- Francis Poulenc (1899 - 1963) was born into a wealthy Parisian family. It was a musical household, and the young Poulenc took piano lessons from the age of five.
- In 1907, aged eight, Poulenc attended a concert where he first heard the music of Debussy. He was fascinated by its originality. Debussy's and Stravinsky's music made a deep impression on Poulenc as a boy and went on to inspire his own compositions.
- Aged just 18, Poulenc lost both his parents and was taken under the wing of his teacher, the celebrated pianist Ricardo Viñes whom Poulenc described as his 'spiritual mentor'.
- Through his piano teacher Viñes, Poulenc was introduced to composers such as Erik Satie. Encouraged by Satie, Poulenc became a member of the group of young composers called Le Six.
- The one act opera La voix humaine (1959) was based on the 1930 play by Jean Cocteau, Poulenc's friend of many years. Poulenc always claimed that it took 40 years for him to have gained enough experience of life to perfectly construct the work.
- Jean Cocteau (1889 - 1963), on whose play the opera was based, was a French poet, visual artist, writer, and filmmaker. He was a leading light of bohemian Paris and the avant-garde. He worked with Proust, Nijinsky, Picasso, Modigliani, Diaghilev, Satie and of course Poulenc.
- Cyflwynwyd opera Poulenc La voix humaine am y tro cyntaf yn Théâtre National de l'Opéra-Comique, Paris ar 6 Chwefror 1959.
- Roedd cynhyrchiad cyntaf La voix humaine yn waith ar y cyd, gyda'r soprano Denise Duval yn gweithio'n agos â Poulenc a'r arweinydd George Prêtre. Dyluniwyd y gwisgoedd a'r setiau gan Jean Cocteau (yr oedd yr opera yn seiliedig ar ei ddrama) ac ef oedd y cyfarwyddwr hefyd.
- Yn wreiddiol yn gyhoeddwr Poulenc, awgrymodd Ricordi iddo ysgrifennu'r opera ar gyfer y soprano byd enwog Maria Callas yn rôl Elle. Gwrthododd, gan ddweud bod yn well ganddo weithio gyda'i gydweithredwr hirdymor, Denise Duval, yr oedd ei 'bywyd caru cythryblus' yn ei gwneud yn ddelfrydol ar gyfer y rôl.
- Ar ôl marwolaeth ei rieni, etifeddodd Poulenc ffortiwn sylweddol ac yngyd â'i llwyddiant cynyddol fel cyfansoddwr, prynodd dŷ gwledig tua'r de-orllewin o Baris, y galwodd yn Le Grand Cocteau. Byddai'n mynd yno'n aml i gyfansoddi mewn distawrwydd.
- Mor boblogaidd oedd Poulenc ym Mhrydain nes yn 1945 ymunodd â Benjamin Britten, yn ôl gwahoddiad y London Philharmonic Orchestra, i berfformio ei Concerto Piano Dwbl yn y Royal Albert Hall.
- Ym mis Ionawr 1963, yn 63 oed, dioddefodd Poulenc drawiad angheol ar y galon yn ei fflat ym Mharis. Mynnodd na fyddai ei gerddoriaeth ei hun yn chwarae yn ei angladd - dim ond cerddoriaeth Bach.
- Poulenc's opera La voix humaine was premiered at the Théâtre National de l'Opéra-Comique, Paris on 6 February 1959.
- The first production of La voix humaine was very much a collaboration, with the soprano Denise Duval working closely with Poulenc and the conductor George Prêtre. The costumes and scenery were designed by Jean Cocteau (whose play the opera was based) and he also directed.
- Originally Poulenc's publisher, Ricordi, suggested he write the opera for the world-famous soprano Maria Callas in the role of Elle. He refused, claiming that he preferred to work with long-term collaborator Denise Duval, whose 'stormy love life' ideally suited her for the role.
- After his parents' death Poulenc inherited a substantial fortune and with his growing success as a composer, he bought a large country house southwest of Paris which he called Le Grand Cocteau. He often retreated there to compose in peace.
- Such was Poulenc's popularity in Britain that in 1945 he joined Benjamin Britten, at the London Philharmonic Orchestra's invitation, to perform his Double Piano Concerto at the Royal Albert Hall.
- In January 1963, aged 63, Poulenc suffered a fatal heart attack in his Paris apartment. He insisted that none of his own music be played at his funeral – only Bach.
